1. INTRODUCTION

The Employees Code of Conduct is set out below. It covers the main standards of behaviour the Board requires from employees and includes the Board Rules, which employees need to follow.

The Board's Rules and the examples of misconduct are not exhaustive. All employees are under a duty to comply with the standards of behaviour and performance required by the Board and to behave in a reasonable manner at all times.

A breach of the Board's Rules may result in disciplinary action. A single instance of gross misconduct may result in dismissal without notice. Examples of misconduct, which the Board normally regards as gross misconduct, are included in the Board Rules.

Employees must obtain management authorisation if for any reason they wish to arrive later or leave earlier than their agreed normal start and finish times.

Employees must never deliberately take any action or behave in such a way that could damage or undermine the Board or the Group. For the avoidance of doubt an employee's allegiance to the Group is just as important as their allegiance to the employing Board. This applies to all employees. Employees are required to ensure that they behave in a way that does not constitute unlawful discrimination.

Employees are required to comply with the Board's and the Group's operating policies, regulations and procedures.

Any queries received from the media must be referred immediately to the Chief Executive. Employees must not attempt to deal with queries from the media themselves.

An employee's failure to co-operate with the Board in this respect may be treated as gross misconduct.
